The camps of instruction contain 60,000 men; conscripts of 1871, to the number of 300,000. At the end of the armistice, France will resume war with 900,000 men.

The reported attempt of Bourbaki to commit suicide, is confirmed.

Armistice for Twenty-one Days.

BORDEAUX, Jan. 30.—A dispatch from Versailles, dated the 28th, says: Jules Favre says the treaty was signed to-day for an armistice of twenty-one days. The National Assembly is to be convened at Bordeaux on the 15th of February. The members of the Paris Government leave for Bordeaux.

German Soldiers not to enter Paris.

VERSAILLES, Jan. 30.—A line is being drawn around Paris so that none can leave or enter without a passport under German supervision. Confidence is felt at headquarters that peace is secured. The soldiers are chagrined that they are not to enter Paris.

Bourbaki's Army Crossing into Switzerland.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—It is reported at Basle that numbers of Bourbaki's army are crossing the frontier armed, at Neuchatel and other points.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The President to-day signed a joint resolution declaratory of an act entitled an act to regulate internal taxes and for other purposes, approved July 14th.

The Senate Committee on Military Affairs, today agreed to report favorably, without amendment, on the House bill providing for the sale of 250 or 500 acres of the Presidio at San Francisco, and the payment of compensation to settlers on Point San Jose reservation.

The House Judiciary Committee agreed to report a resolution directing the Attorney General to institute suit in the U. S. Circuit Court for California against all claimants to Yerba Buena or Goat Island, to test the validity of the Government title to that property, and, if necessary, to carry the case to the Supreme Court.

Territorial Government for the Indians.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The President sent to Congress to-day a message recommending the establishment of a Territorial Government for the Indians.

MEXICO.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 26, via Havana, Jan. 30.—Lordo de Lejada has resigned. No successor has been appointed, but it is believed that M. Romero will fill the vacancy.

Prospects of the re-election of President Juarez are flattering.

[illegible] the State of Gurrero continues unfavorable to the Government.

The Mexicans are excited over the so-called aggressions of the Lower California Company.

The Tehauntepec expedition is progressing favorably. The engineers report sufficient water on the summit route for canal purposes.

Rumors are current that Juarez has offered Diaz the Ministry of War; that Maccecol has been recalled and that Enistraublo Canedo has been appointed to succeed that Minister at Washington.

MONTANA.

Murders by Indians.

FORT BENTON, Jan. 31.—Chas. B. McKnight and a man named Ross, belonging to the post at Mussell Shell, while out hunting on the 11th, were shot and killed by a war party of Sioux Indians.

NEVADA.

Stage Robbed Near Reno.

RENO, Jan. 31.—About 5:30 P. M. to-day, while the Susanville stage was approaching town at a point one and a half miles north, two men masked, jumped from behind the sage brush, one catching the leaders by the head and covering the driver with a revolver, the other covering the passengers with a pistol in each hand, and calling on all to raise their hands. The driver was then requested to dismount, when they searched him and obtained $150 in coin. Major Eggleston, U. S. A., was then requested to dismount, which he did. The robbers searched him and found $200 in his pockets, and requested him to remove the belt around his waist, which contained $7,000. They must have known of the fact and followed him some distance. While they were examining the Major, the driver, from whom they had taken a revolver, drew his deringer and fired at one of the villains, and undoubtedly hit him in the breast, as he fell to the ground. He afterwards got up and staggered off, firing as he went. The other robbers decamped. The report of the pistol caused the team to run away, and they ran a distance of half a mile before they were stopped, when Lieut. Hay and another man proceeded back to follow the robbers. When they arrived at the scene of encounter they found the Major's belt, containing $7,000, and $200 in private fonds.

The Press on the Fish-Motley Correspondence.

The Cincinnati Gazette prints the correspondence and invites the people to judge the case upon its merits.

The New York World has nothing to say in the matter. Probably it has not yet received the instructions from Tammany.

The Philadelphia Ledger concludes that Motley's error is chargeable to his own supreme self-complacency, and that of the school to which he has attached himself.

The Chicago Times thinks it shows to what an inconceivable extent the Radical President is governed by a sincere desire to settle our controversy with Great Britain in an honorable manner, and to what a vast extent his operation are governed by purely selfish motives.

The New York Tribune thinks "Few will doubt that the advantage in this polished but pungent controversy is decidedly with Governor Fish," and yet such is its esteem for Mr. Motley, that it could wish that it had not been necessary that this dispatch, "No. 51," should be written.

The Boston Journal hopes that the people will "carefully peruse the correspondence, and then form, if they can, a reasonable hypothesis for the summary removal of Mr. Motley from his responsible post." The Times says "the correspondence throws no new light on the causes of Mr. Motley's removal."

The New York Times has read the correspondence between Mr. Motley and Secretary Fish, and thinks that the quarrel might have been avoided. "Mr. Motley's errors—if errors they were—were on the side of patriotism and popular feeling in this country. * * A plain common-sense letter from Mr. Fish would have corrected them." The Times tries to hold an even balance between the gentlemen, and finds no grave fault with either.

A Frenchman having frequently heard the word press, made use of to imply persuade, as "Press that gentleman to take some refreshment." "Press him to stay to-night," etc., thought he would show his talent by using a synonymous term, and therefore made no scruple one evening to cry out in company, "Pray squeeze that lady to sing."

Carlyle is suffering from physical, as he has long been from mental, dyspepsia.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

The Negotiations between Favre and Bismarck.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The Herald's Versailles special, Jan. 29th, says: As the facts concerning the negotiations are developed better, feeling is evident among both French and Germans, and all begin to agree in hoping for a termination of the war. The French especially are well pleased at the apparent modification of the German desire to humiliate Paris by a triumphal entry into the capital. The negotiations between Favre and Bismarck are most interesting. The arrival of Favre was known to no one except those immediately concerned in conducting him through the lines. On his arrival he was immediately admitted to the presence of the Chancellor. "What is the object of this visit?" Favre, much affected, replied: "To put a stop to the terrible suffering in Paris, now that hope for relief from without is lost. Paris must seek peace. All we ask is such consideration as a generous enemy might give without loss of advantage or honors." Bismarck expressed a desire to do all in his power to show respect for the suffering and gallantry of the French nation consistent with the safety, honor and interest of United Germany. This had been from first to last the object and desire of the Emperor and his advisers since the commencement of the unhappy war forced upon them.

Favre first demanded the terms already reported. Bismarck replied: "It is not my province to refuse or accept terms, but I must say that the terms are such that I cannot myself approve them, and I feel confident my august Master will reject them. However, it is my duty to submit them for his consideration." Favre was politely but strictly placed under strict surveillance. The first overtures were promptly rejected. After Favre's return, acceptance was signified in substance of the terms demanded by the Emperor. Great excitement prevails at Versailles.

An interview again took place between Bismarck and Favre. The former afterwards waited on the King and Council, when Favre's acceptance on the part of the Parisian Government, was submitted.

Rumors are current that Von Moltke is greatly dissatisfied with the Crown Prince's army on the occasion of the sortie of the 19th. He thinks the ground was lost unnecessarily, and expressed his opinion openly. There is a growing coldness in consequence between the Crown Prince and the Commander-in-Chief.

Transportation to Paris.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—All rivers are open to transportation to Paris.

News by Way of London.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Bismarck leaves France after the meeting of the Assembly at Bordeaux. The early return of Emperor William is expected. The report of his return on Tuesday is [illegible] [illegible]ted.

The Germans rigidly maintain the pass regulations during the armistice.

LILLE, Jan. 30.—The armistice astounded the North. The impression was rather favorable [illegible] undecided, awaiting the conditions of peace. It is said the Germans have invested Abbeville, notwithstanding the armistice.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The armistice [illegible] [illegible] ments, [illegible] [illegible] All French forces are [illegible]

A Berlin dispatch says [illegible] negotiations with Bismarck take an important turn. A later dispatch says there is consternation at Wilhelmshohe in consequence of a proposition to call a Constituent Assembly.

The Feeling in France.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Gambetta ratifies the capitulation and will not resign.

Later—Gambetta is reported to have committed suicide.

The Empress Eugenie, after a stormy interview with Duke De Persigny, ordered him to quit her presence since he persisted in urging her to consent to the dismemberment of France.

There are demonstrations in several French towns against an armistice and the mutilation of France, and municipalities appear to maintain resistance, and have sent deputations to Bordeaux with that object.

BORDEAUX, Jan. 30.—Gambetta telegraphed to-day to Favre at Versailles requesting him to break the silence maintained by the Paris Government, and to state the name of the minister whose arrival was announced, the motives of delay and positive information respecting the condition of Paris.

WASHINGTON CITY.

A Scandalous Job Exposed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—There was a fearful expose in the House yesterday, of the dark ways and corrupt practices of the lobby and its influence on Congress. The House Appropriation Committee, last week learned that the Treasury Department was about to pay a draft on its current appropriations, by the Postmaster-General, for nearly half a million dollars, to pay a claim of one George Chesepening for ancient mail service, repudiated by the Post Office Department for the last ten years. This led to the passage of a resolution asking for the suspension of payment until an investigation could be made by the Committee. The investigation proved a most remarkable state of things. It was shown that one of the counsel of claimant was ex-first assistant Postmaster-General Earle, late law partner of Postmaster-General Cresswell. A joint resolution to pay the claim was put through the House by Mr. Cessna, of Penn., under a suspension of the rules, without report or debate. It passed the Senate the same day and was signed soon after by the President, comprising in all but eighteen hours; that Mr. Earle presented what purported to be a report of the House Postal Committee to Postmaster-General Cresswell in favor of this, but which proved to be without the slightest foundation. No report was ever made by such committee, or ever discussed by them. Cresswell, instead of waiting for an application to pay the claim, drew a draft against the general fund for it, and paid it in the face of reports made by Postmaster Generals Brown, Holt, Blair, Randall and himself, that the claim had no foundation in law or equity. These and many other facts, brought to the attention of the House by Dawes and Beck, produced consternation. A resolution was unanimously passed repealing the joint resolution to pay the claim.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—There is going to be a lively contest over the claim of the Spring Valley Water Company for $40,000 for water furnished the city for use in the City Hall, Hospital and other public buildings in two years. The general opinion is that the bill is at least three times too high.

Advices from Tahiti announce the arrival there of the German bark Gazelle, with barley from San Francisco, captured off Iquiqui, Peru, by a French war steamer, and sent there as a prize.

The French in San Francisco are not generally satisfied with the prospect of peace on the terms proposed, and some of them who have given most liberally express their willingness to double and even quadruple their subscriptions should the war be resumed by the Republic.

Weather clear and fine.

The steamer Colorado, from Panama, two days overdue, is coming in this evening.

The sloop Eliza was wrecked on Point Lobos this evening. The crew escaped.

Rivas, the Mexican Consul, under orders from Mexico, declines to sign any clearances for vessels or goods for Magdalena Bay, the Lower California Company having advertised free ports, red trade, etc. He notifies the public that Magdalena Bay is not a port of entry, and any goods loaded there will be liable to seizure. The only port of entry on the peninsula of Lower California is La Paz.

The Curlew, chartered by the Lower California Company, being refused clearance for Magdalena, sailed without papers.

The U. S. steamer Nyack, from Honolulu, with advices from the crew of the wrecked war steamer Saginaw, is now due and her arrival is looked for with much anxiety.

NEVADA.

VIRGINIA, Jan. 30.—The Germans of this city and Gold Hill and vicinity are having a grand jollification this evening over the triumph of the German armies in France and the capitulation of Paris, and consequent near approach of peace.

In the Senate a concurrent resolution was adopted asking Congress to take steps to exclude Chinese labor from the Carson branch mint.

DECISION IN U. S. DISTRICT COURT

The general answer in admiralty should be pertinent and responsive to the narrations in the articles of the libel, [illegible] response is not full, explicit and distinct, [illegible] for insufficiency lies to compel a [illegible]

But if the answer is responsive to the [illegible] exceptions will lie to it on the ground that [illegible] a defence to the suit whether the matter [illegible] tinent or not. Exceptions to a portion [illegible] swer that is insufficient as a defence [illegible] not well taken.

The State statute gives a pilot half [illegible] compensation for tendering his services [illegible] ship out over the Columbia river bar, [illegible] same are refused: HELD, that such a [illegible] claim for pilotage which by the general [illegible] law is a lien upon the vessel, and the [illegible] be enforced by a suit in admiralty.

U. S. District Court, District of Oregon, [illegible]urday, January 28, 1871.

Wass vs. Steamship California, [illegible] Claimants—In Admiralty—Suit [illegible] age.

This suit is brought by [illegible] bar pilot, attached [illegible] recover $[illegible] half pilotage [illegible]

The libel, [illegible] 1870, alleges that [illegible] libellant was [illegible] laws of Oregon [illegible] pilot at the mouth [illegible] that the steamship [illegible] at the port [illegible] [illegible] said river and over the bar thereof to sea, and that said vessel then and there [illegible] water [illegible] [illegible] taking [illegible]

[illegible] answer of the [illegible] claimants [illegible] [illegible] response to the allegations of the [illegible]

That the respondent has no knowledge [illegible] as to whether the libellant was [illegible] is true that the libellant hailed the vessel and offered his services as alleged [illegible] that libellant was the first pilot [illegible] offered his services on that occasion [illegible] there was no pilot on board said vessel [illegible] time [illegible] alleged [illegible] and respondent doth [illegible] that one Hays was the [illegible] pilot that offered his services to the vessel [illegible] said August 7 and that said Hays was a duly qualified pilot and had a certificate from the Inspectors of Steamboats for the district of Oregon, authorizing him to pilot said vessel to the open sea, and that said Hays as such pilot had said vessel in charge [illegible] that libellant hailed her and thereafter [illegible] river bar to the open sea.

Second. That it is true said vessel drew [illegible] feet [illegible] of water, but it is not true that the libellant is entitled to demand and receive from said vessel or the master or owner thereof half pilotage or the sum of $[illegible] or any other sum.

Third. [illegible] the suit the special answer alleges [illegible] libellant ought not to have or maintain [illegible] half pilotage is based on the provisions of an act [illegible] the Legislative Assembly of Oregon, [illegible] 1860, and that the right to demand [illegible] receive half pilotage [illegible] the cases [illegible] is limited to the master [illegible] of the vessel and the claim [illegible] thereby given against the vessel [illegible]

On December [illegible] to the answer of the respondent on [illegible] January 9, 1871, the same were argued [illegible] submitted.

The exceptions are four in [illegible] seemed to [illegible] or idea that if [illegible] answer in admiralty [illegible] to the suit that exceptions [illegible] will lie. But [illegible] law in such a case the party [illegible] insufficiency of the pleadings would demur. But in admiralty, [illegible] the respondent is [illegible] his response answer to the narrative or articles [illegible] the libel or bill, or the interrogatories [illegible] ed thereto. If this is not [illegible] distinct as to each separate allegation [illegible] libel, it is said to be insufficient [illegible] cient as a defence to the suit, [illegible] answer or response to the charges [illegible] and exceptions will lie thereto. [illegible] tions are allowed the judgment [illegible] that the respondent make a further and better answer, which he may be [illegible] do if he omits or refuses.—(Ad. [illegible])

If, however, the answer contains [illegible] responsive to the allegations or [illegible] of the libel and not constituting [illegible] thereto, it is said to be impertinent or irrelevant, and may be excepted to on that account.

The first exception is somewhat peculiar, and it does not appear from the exception itself whether it is taken for insufficiency or impertinence. It is taken to the answer to the first article of the libel which, it is alleged, contains "denials" of the libellant's cause of suit, and also an allegation of new matter as a defense thereto, when the same should have been stated separately. If the premises be correct, I suppose the exception is well taken for impertinence, for although the new matter be sufficient as a defensive allegation or peremptory exception to the suit, it is impertinent to blend and confuse it with the response to a particular article or allegation of the libel. When it becomes necessary to insert in the answer some matter which cannot be pertinently introduced as responsive to any allegation in the libel, such matter must be separately stated in an article framed after the manner of an article in a libel. Such an article is sometimes called a defensive allegation, and sometimes a peremptory or dilatory exception, as the case may be, and is analogous to a plea in bar or to the jurisdiction at common law. (2 Conkling's Ad., 544; Ben. Ad., 250.)

Now, I do not perceive that any part of the answer embraced in this exception is not responsive and pertinent to the narration in the first article of the libel. The article states that on the voyage in question, that the libellant was the first pilot to hail the vessel and tender his services, and that at the time the vessel had no pilot on board. The answer, after contesting negatively that the libellant first hailed the vessel and that she was then without a pilot, affirms the fact to be that Hays, a pilot qualified as therein stated, was then on board and in charge and piloted her to sea. Certainly this is responsive to the allegation, and answers it according to the fact, as the respondent asserts it to be. I know of no reason or rule by which a party is bound to rest his response to an allegation with a mere denial, when, as he conceives, the contrary is also true and material.

[illegible] exception is taken to the matter [illegible] "new matter" in the [illegible] reason that the [illegible] defense [illegible] as well as the [illegible] have been taken, if [illegible] instead [illegible] shown, except[illegible] be taken [illegible] full, ex[illegible] allegation [illegible] professes to [illegible] arising from [illegible] have been [illegible] says, the matter [illegible] constitute a defense [illegible] impertinent [illegible]

[illegible] parties have argued [illegible] that had been taken for [illegible] will consider and dispose of [illegible] accordingly; [illegible] payment of [illegible] evidence and [illegible] these were [illegible]

This exception is not well taken upon [illegible] the matter [illegible] allegation [illegible] constitute a defense to the suit, it is [illegible] impertinent, because in direct response to the first article of the libel.

The third exception is not well taken. The [illegible] it is in af[illegible] the libel [illegible] draft of the vessel, but [illegible] entitled to receive half [illegible] from the vessel, or master [illegible] alleged in the libel. This [illegible] words upon

The fourth and last exception raised a question which was decided against the respondent [illegible] The Wright. In [illegible] the adverse decision, counsel for respondent has asked the court to reconsider the question. His argument which is not without force and plausibility is that the [illegible] half pilotage on account of services [illegible] given by the State [illegible] statute gives no [illegible] the vessel for such service, [illegible] remedy of the pilot is the master [illegible] or consignee, [illegible] Therefore [illegible] In support [illegible] illustration of the subject [illegible] commented upon The [illegible] The Schooner Wave, [illegible] The Pacific [illegible] The [illegible]

Sections 11 and 17 of the State pilot law [illegible] that the master of [illegible] the river, [illegible] when bound [illegible] pilot as shall first [illegible] full pilot[illegible] and if bound out one-half [illegible] the master [illegible] to pay [illegible] liable for the same.

In the absence of legislation by Congress, the State has power to regulate the subject of [illegible] power [illegible] the persons who may perform that service, what compensation they shall receive and under what circumstances an offer to pilot a vessel shall be equivalent to performance, and therefore give the pilot making such offer a right to compensation as pilotage. Cooley vs Board of Wardens, 12 How. 311. The [illegible] Admiralty [illegible] a suit to be brought against [illegible] pilotage [illegible] jurisdiction. Ben. A. [illegible]

The offer to pilot a vessel under certain circumstances is declared by the State Statute, so far as the [illegible] compensation [illegible] equivalent to performance, and the Supreme Court in Cooley vs Board of Wardens, cited above, has decided such a statute to be a reasonable and valid regulation of the subject of pilotage. [illegible] then a claim for compensation for services tendered and refused is a claim for pilotage and therefore a lien against the vessel which may be enforced by a suit in admiralty.

In Steamship Company vs Jolliffe (2 Wall. [illegible]) it was held under similar circumstances that the law implied a contract in favor of the [illegible] half pilotage as a compensation [illegible] the pilot, [illegible] by him in [illegible] to render the service [illegible] cases would be [illegible] cited [illegible] on the subject [illegible] District of Massachusetts the [illegible] ship for half pilotage [illegible] services tendered and refused [illegible] the Court. True, [illegible] expressly gave [illegible] for the amount, and [illegible] right to distinguish [illegible] other [illegible] the same Court some years before when [illegible] But it is [illegible] The Amer[illegible] the ship up[illegible] the State Statute gave the [illegible] independently of [illegible] rule of the [illegible] lien upon [illegible] either in fact [illegible] He says:

"It has never been decided that in the case [illegible] and which [illegible] would give rise [illegible] would be [illegible] the duration [illegible] lawfully [illegible] Such is the case [illegible] recognized in [illegible] a lien upon the ship [illegible] to regulate the subject matter [illegible] that a pilotage contract is [illegible] has been made [illegible] that the pilot [illegible] the ship, by the general [illegible] this valid con*tract?* If so, he surely does not lose it, because the State tries to help him to it. If he does, then he must equally lose his lien for pilotage actually performed; for they stand on the same foundation, and are given by the same clause of the statute. My opinion, therefore, is, that, as this case comes within the 14 rule, * * * this Court has jurisdiction to enforce a State lien; and if this were not so, that a lien is implied or results from a valid contract for pilotage, unless, as in the case before Judge Sprague (The Mercer), the law expressly or by implication denies it. Taken either way, there is a lien which gives the right to proceed here against the vessel."

But I do not admit the conclusion which may be drawn from a remark in the foregoing quotation, that a State in the exercise of its permitted power to regulate the subject of pilotage, could deny a pilot a lien upon a vessel for his services, contrary to the general maritime law, and thus deprive the Courts of Admiral of jurisdiction of suits in rem to enforce claims for pilotage.

Nor, if such power were to be admitted, do I construe the Statute of Oregon giving half pilotage, either from the fact of its silence upon the subject of a lien for pilots' services, or because it gives the contingent and cumulative remedy against the consignee, as impliedly denying a lien for pilotage. The true view of the matter, it seems to me, is, that the State law creates the debt, demand or claim for half pilotage on account of services tendered the ship and refused, and implies a contract to pay for the same whatever the statute allows and prescribes; and that a valid, legal claim for pilotage being thus established, it comes within the rule of the maritime law and becomes a lien upon the ship for which a suit in Admiralty may be maintained. MUSTER OUT OF ARMY OFFICERS.—A Washington dispatch of the 14th January says:

There is much less complaint and growling about the muster-out army orders of the Secretary of War than was expected by some. The pressure brought to bear upon Gen. Belknap and the President to retain this or that favorite was simply unparalleled. Influences political, social, and of almost every other character, were plied, but to no purpose. There are several notable instances where officers of wealth and sociable position exerted such subtle diplomacy that there was left no doubt in their own minds that they would be retained; but alas, for their expectations, the obdurate Secretary deviated neither to the right nor the left, and went by the record alone. Members of Congress flow to the War Office in a passion to know why this was thus, in some cases, but retired before the inspection of the record. To the appeals of these gentlemen the Secretary would only say that he must carry out the law which they had made.

At one of our neighbors' houses was a very bright little girl. It chanced once that they had as a guest a minister, and an esteemed friend.

Little Annie watched him very closely, and finally sat down beside him and began to draw on her slate.

"What are you doing, Annie?" asked the clergyman.

"I'se making your picture," said the child.

The gentleman sat very still, and she worked away earnestly for a while. Then she stopped and compared her work with the original and shook her little head.

"I don't like it much," she said. "Taint a great deal like you. I dess I'll put a tail to it and call it a dorg."

... therefore, expected home in February to begin his usual round of newspaper ... engagements. Strange to say, ... been absent four or five months, and ... all that time has never been married once.

LAND DEPARTMENT

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd-numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands co-terminus with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract of an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government: The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees, and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect. I. R. MOORES,
52tfdlaw Land Agent O. & C. R. R. Co., Salem

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, ... under any of these fearful maladies should ... sacred responsibility resting upon them ... delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is ready ... and will give each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure ... or make no charge.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 1, 1871.

The Teuton and the Gaul.

In the current number of Scribner's Monthly there is a good article on the relative soldiership and strength (moral and physical) of the French and Germans. The writer maintains that the smashing defeats of the French and the utter overthrow of their military pretensions are facts too remarkable and striking to be attributed to the chances of war, and can only be ascribed to the actual present inferiority of the French as soldiers. "Either," says he, "they have sadly deteriorated, or the Germans have wonderfully improved. Both facts, doubtless, obtain to a certain extent, and the explanation lies in the ruling policies of the two nationalities; In Prussia, not only mental but physical education has been compulsory. The Prussians are a nation of intelligent and trained men. They are men who love literature—who, stern and rough as some of them may be, are fond of poetry and music, and possess an amount of culture in these arts that would be quite incredible in France. They are thinking men—self-contained and self-dependent—unsubjected to spiritual domination. In short, they are men with good bodies well trained, and good brains well informed, and in free, active use. We cannot reproduce the exact statement, but at the time of the capture of Sedan we remember that it was found that quite a large number of the minor French officers could not write their names!"

Hence the statement is advanced that the overwhelming defeat of the French nation has been wrought out quietly in the Prussian schools and barracks. "The schoolmaster for the mind and the drill sergeant for the body by only a few years of thorough work, have transformed Prussia into the leading power of Europe. She has marched, without the slightest effectual resistance, to the capital of her bitterest enemy—an enemy that once held all Europe at bay—and swallowed his armies in her victorious progress. She will dictate, at immense advantage, the terms of peace. It is not to be wondered at that France cannot understand that she is defeated, or why she is defeated; and the great cause of fear now is that she will not learn that there is no possible way for her to reestablish her national greatness save through the universal education of her people. Universal education is for France, as well as for Spain and Italy, the only means by which regeneration of power may come. Without the adoption of this policy it will matter very little who may sit upon the throne of France, or whether France be without a throne. When the people of France become as intelligent as those of Germany, and as thoughtful and as intellectually and spiritually free and independent as they, then they may hope to stand again on an equality, as a nation, with their northern neighbor. This change cannot take place without loss of influence to the priesthood, and it is needless to say that the priesthood will oppose it; but it must take place, or France must be content to sink into the position of a second-class power. The world is making progress, through the spread of intelligence and culture, and France must adopt the policy of Prussia, or consent to sit at her feet a defeated, humbled and helpless state.

In the [illegible] January Pendleton and Vallandigham spoke at a Democratic meeting at Columbus, Ohio. Vallandigham warned the Democracy not to turn their backs on the time-honored annexation policy of the party out of any spirit of opposition to what he called schemes of Grant. If the Federal system was preserved in its purity he thought we could take in Mexico and where he had had some experience and the Isthmus; in fact, the whole world be annexed, could be governed on the American principle. He urged caution therefore, that the Democratic opposition to San Domingo should not place them in a false position, and one of antagonism with the principles of the party. Pendleton forgets, however that the party has no "principles save the single negative one of factious opposition.

Doubtless when the editor of the Oregon City paper came—we trust he has learned it by this time—that the Government is expending more money each year in this State (over and above the postal receipts) to supply the people of the State with mails than it is receiving under the system of internal taxation the said editor will admit that when he declared that the General Government was impoverishing the State by its excessive exactions he was ignorant of what he was talking about. In the whole transactions of the State of Oregon with the General Government there is an annual balance in favor of the State and against the Government of half a million to a million dollars. And this is the way Oregon is being "ruined" by the General Government.

The latest thing among our high-toned lawmakers at Washington is wife-beating. Haldeman—Drunken Dick—member from the York District, Pennsylvania, became terribly enraged a few days since, and vented his spleen on his wife, a daughter of Simon Cameron, knocking her down, and pounding her face shockingly. Her eyes both blacked and her whole person bruised and beaten. This is rather further than even Radical Congressmen have went (sic) heretofore, but, then, in this age of progress, no man knoweth what the morrow may bring-forth in the way of rascality and scandalous barbarity.—Eugene Guard.

Considering that Haldeman,—(Drunken Dick)—is a bed-rock Democrat, and was elected by 3,299 majority, we are afraid the Eugene Guard has been a little too plain-spoken.

In California the contest for the Democratic nomination for Governor lies between Haight, the present Governor, and Congressman Johnson. It is supposed that the Democrats of San Francisco will support Haight. Those of the interior, and especially of Northern California, are coming out decidedly for Johnson. The opposition to Haight comes from those who consider him too much of a "Puritan." They want an accommodating man with an easy conscience and a prejudice against vetoes in all cases where Democrats put up little schemes for their enrichment and grind them through the Legislature. In short, they want such a man for Governor as the Oregon ring have in Gov. Grover.

Bret Harte, author of "The Heathen Chinee," the most popular humorous poem of the day, has been engaged to write a series of poems for Harper's Weekly, illustrative of certain picturesque phases of Spanish-American life in California which are rapidly passing away, and which will soon exist only in the creations of the poet and the artist. The poems will be illustrated by some of the best artists.

The Methodist Church.

The official records of the Methodist Episcopal Church make the following showing,—the figures including the entire denomination, with the exception of the Missions in China, Bulgaria, and South America:

	1870	Increase over 1869
Bishops	8	—
Annual Conferences	74	—
Traveling Preachers	9,193	363
Local Preachers	12,401	1,064
Total Preachers	21,594	2,004
Members in full connection	1,173,096	58,387
Members on probation	198,035	9,809
Total Lay Members	1,367,134	68,196
Adult Baptisms	66,481	5,534
Infant Baptisms	50,453	2,044
Total Baptisms	116,934	8,278
Number of Churches	13,371	1,325
Number of Parsonages	4,179	211
Value of Church Edifices	$52,614,591	$5,361,524
Value of Parsonages	$7,293,513	$431,259
Number of Sunday Schools	16,912	518
Sunday School Teachers	189,412	4,816
Sunday School Scholars	1,224,398	41,409
Benevolent Collections	$907,862	$9,927

Of the 9,193 traveling preachers only 7,770 do full work, there being 499 supernumerary and 924 superannuated. The net increase in local preachers is 1,064—a larger percentage than that of any previous year. In Indiana and Ohio the total lay membership is 256,615, or about one-fifth of the entire denomination. Of special conferences, there are but three classes which present points of interest. These we summarize below:

Conferences	Members.	Increase.	Trav. Preach	Local Preach
Germany	37,019	1,505	359	368
Southern	150,616	19,871	678	2,090
Colored	43,248	7,735	180	449

The progress of the Church by decades, with a comparison of the increase from 1766 to 1870, is subjoined:

Year.	Traveling Preachers.	Inc of Preachers	Members.	Inc. of Members.
1766	—	—	—	—
1776	24	24	4,921	4,921
1786	117	95	20,689	15,768
1796	293	166	56,264	35,975
1806	452	159	130,570	74,306
1816	605	213	214,235	83,666
1826	1,406	711	370,800	146,565
1836	2,028	2,522	650,103	289,303
1846	3,582	654	644,229 Dec.	5,874
1856	5,877	2,295	800,327	156,098
1866	7,276	1,699	1,032,184	231,857
1870 (4 yrs)	9,193	1,617	1,368,134	334,950

The slight falling off in 1846 was due, of course, to the withdrawal of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. The denomination lost by that accession 495,288 members, and 1,345 itinerant preachers, yet its recuperative energies, as shown by the table, almost supplied the total loss of laymen, and much more than supplied the loss in ministers within the decade.

A tremendous demonstration in favor of Italian unity was made a few evenings since by a great meeting at the New York Academy of Music. The consolidation of many distinct States into a few great nations is the great impressive political fact of these times. Italy is an example of this political tendency, and a striking illustration of the progress which the principle is making.

Senator Williams gave President Grant to understand during a recent interview, that he is not an applicant for any office, and that anybody asking office for him does so without his consent and against his wishes.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

The Cologne Gazette says that at Vienna M. Thiers happened to stay at the same hotel with M. Ranke. These two historians dined together, and M. Thiers put the question—"Against whom does Germany, in fact, fight at this moment?" "Against Louis XIV.," answered M. Ranke. M. Thiers did not reply.

The London Times, in its review of the past year, says that "the astonishing events of the second half of 1870 have reduced previous and contemporary transactions to real or apparent insignificance. In England spectators of the great Continental drama have almost forgotten for the moment their own domestic affairs."

On the memorable battlefields of Wissembourg and Woerth, there is little left to remind one of the fearful slaughters. A few houses, parts of the wall and gates, and the Chateau on the Geissenburg side show signs of the deadly strife, and a number of mounds which cover thousands of the fallen—all in heaps of so many hundred in each—is all that remains.

The German custom of celebrating copper, silver and golden weddings is generally known, but a diamond wedding, the sixtieth anniversary, is of rare occurrence. It has just, however, been observed by Field Marshal Count Wrangel, the oldest soldier in the Prussian army. On the 26th of December, 1810, the then Lieut. Wrangel married fraulein Bulow.

The London Times' correspondent at Versailles notes as among the results of the war, and one which he fears is fast assuming large proportions, a change in the character of the German people. "I do not know," he says, "in history any instance of a peaceful empire established by force of arms. It is said, indeed, that the German races are averse to war. I look for the proofs in the past and see them not, and I confess that I very much doubt if the future will justify the confident expectations of those who expect the millennium to proceed from the conquest of France."

The London Standard says: From the events of the past year there are imminent questions of interest involved, not for Prussia and France alone, but for ourselves also. Heavy shadows have fallen over us while the German armies have been on their path of pillage. Mute and abject, we have ceased to assert ourselves as a power in Europe. The arbiters of the Continent ignore our very existence. They tear up our treaties, repudiate our guarantees, give us haughty notice to quit the council table of Europe; and we, or our liberal government, believe that while the nations are embroiled or dividing the spoils of States which we stand solemnly pledged to defend and trampling upon conventions which they defy us to enforce, we are following a policy of peace.

The London Economist believes that if the war were once over the English money market would improve rapidly. "There would certainly be much borrowing by Germany or France, probably both, to settle the accounts of the war. And this would relieve us of some of our own money which is now lying idle, as well as of the foreign money which has now been sent here for shelter, and be cause the owners of it do not know in their own country what to do with it. That this plethora should soon be relieved is, in our judgment, of the first importance. There is great truth in the saying, 'John Bull can stand many things, but he cannot stand two per cent.' Whenever money has long been exceedingly cheap, the owners of it, being tired of the small returns from safe business, have tried to gain greater returns from illegitimate."

How Vanderbilt Started.—Every little while the newspapers contain an account of Vanderbilt's beginning. Most of these accounts are apocryphal. His statement of his first real success is this: He was a young man on Staten Island. He was master of rowing. He was athletic, strong and daring. One night a stranger came to the landing and wanted to be rowed across to Gowanus. The night was dark and stormy and the wind blew a gale. Not a boatman could be found who would leave. The landlord said, "There is nobody what can row you over but Corn. Vanderbilt"—for so he was called. It was doubtful, he said, whether he would do it. Vanderbilt was found, and, in answer to the request, replied: "It's pretty rough, but if you'll give me ten dollars, lay down in my boat and not stir, or do just what I bid you, I'll try it." He rowed the man over and back in safety. As soon he landed on Staten Island the stranger said, "Young man, how would you like to run an opposition steamboat?" "Nothing would suit me better," was the reply. "Have you pluck enough to obey orders?" said the stranger. "I have," was the response. "Suppose I was to tell you to run into a steamboat, what would you do?" "Run into her, by——." The bargain was sealed amid the storm that night, on the island, and Vanderbilt entered on his well known career as a steamboat man.

PERSONAL ITEMS.

Dumas left the unpublished manuscripts of 23 novels and 14 plays.

Four hundred of the late rebel officers are now holding commissions in the armies of South America.

Tennyson is growing very old and crabbed, and modestly believes he is the only true poet now living.

Nearly three-quarters of all the journalists and litterateurs of Paris have suffered from the calamities of the war.

An unusually large number of Americans are spending this winter in Sorrento—not less, it is said, than 500 in all.

The estate of Gen. Prim is estimated to be worth, in our money, $4,000,000 or $5,000,000, mostly in real estate, and not convertible into cash.

Gen. (Fort Sumter) Anderson bears such a striking likeness to King John of Saxony, that one has often been mistaken for the other.

In Memphis, Tennessee, men shoot each other at funerals in the interest of the undertaker's trade—the only branch of business active there at present.

Among the titles employed by the country press to designate Wm. M. Tweed are "Owner of New York," "The Highwayman of Manhattan," "Chief of the Tammany Thieves," "Dictator of Gotham," "Head Center of Villainy," and "The Antilla of the Celtic Hordes."

A Chicago paper mentions the death of one Peter Holtman at the "extraordinary age of 159." This is, indeed, so extraordinary, that the statement must be a typographical error. Chicago has always shown a disposition to quote what belongs to it as above Parr, and this is the latest instance.

Von Beust, the Austrian Minister, eclipses Grant as a smoker, and since the war refuses to limit himself to less than 40 cigars a day. Behind all that smoke there must be some fire.

Before the war the gossips insisted that Bismarck was killing himself by intemperance, that he had the delirium tremens every week or two. The French counselors and leaders should send for some of Bismarck's liquor.

The details of the death of Mr. John Walter, son of the proprietor of The London Times, show that it occurred on the 24th ult., while trying to save his brother and cousin, who had fallen through the ice when skating, on a lake in front of his father's residence, at Bearwood, Berkshire. He had only returned forty-eight hours before from a tour round the world.

GENERAL ITEMS.

Father Mesplie started from Boise City on a mission to Washington a few days ago to raise funds for re-building the Catholic Church in Boise City, which was recently destroyed by fire.

A suffering man at Boise City applied to a physician a short time since to know if he could cure the heart disease. On being told that it was altogether owing to the nature of the case, he said: "I have had the disease two or three years, and every once in a while it breaks and runs." This remark displayed the unfortunate patient's ignorance of the science of anatomy.

On the morning of the 21st December, 1868, in New York city, a merchant named Rogers was murdered in front of his own door. All efforts to discover the murderer proved fruitless, and the affair was booked among the mysteries of that great city of crime. The perpetrator of that deed has at last been found in the person of a convict named F. E. Pinton, recently confined in the Auburn prison, who revealed the fact and its particulars to a fellow prisoner.

An American writes from Paris to the Cincinnati Gazette: You should see us, the Americans! Such a lot for military advice and appetite. We eat and sleep and advise the military authorities. We growl all day long and all the evening through, and when we go to bed we growl in our dreams. You know those of us who are born in our native land are born military and political geniuses! War and politics are with us an intuition. So you should hear us discuss Trochu, and Favre, and Ducrot, while we discuss the boiled horse, or stewed cat, or roast ass, or fricasseed cat, which these great men entertain us upon.

The Crown Prince.—The man who, more than any other, has risen to a decided eminence in this war is the Crown Prince of Prussia. He has developed a real military genius, not merely the result of good military training, but the evidence of original powers of mind and fitness for great commands. So far as can be prognosticated, Prussia and Germany in general, has in him a most fortunate provision for future good rule and national greatness. An ardent parliamentarist, he desires his country to be governed by his people, and to occupy himself the most enviable position within the reach of a monarch, that of a constitutional ruler. Governed by a man who is earnestly occupied with affairs of state, and who already has developed such ability, Prussia may look to a continuance of that greatness which the events of the last ten years have enabled her to attain. Her recent history is one of remarkable skillful diplomatic management; and if the coming years are to be marked by as wise a direction of home affairs, we shall see a Germany permanently united, and taking her place among the most solid and most progressive nations.

DIED:

At Buena Vista, January 27, 1871, after a protracted illness from the effects of mercury, Margaret, wife of Caleb Woods, and mother of Ex-Gov. G. L. Woods, of Oregon, aged 61 years and 8 months.

Aunt Margaret was a devoted wife and kind Christian mother and was much esteemed by a large circle of friends. Her death has cast a gloom over this entire community where she has resided for the last five years previous to her death.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 1, 1871.

CITY.

A Woman Missing.—It will be recollected that a short time ago the defaulting Treasurer of Washington county, Kern Westfal was arrested in this city and taken to Washington county where he was held to answer and sent to [illegible] Jail. Prior to his return to the State his wife was separated from him. We do not know when the separation took place, nor is it material. After his return he saw his wife and induced her to live with him again. She says since her friends that he threatened her. However this may be they had since been living together in [illegible] Hotel, up town. Last Wednesday, Mrs. Westfall left the hotel to go out, as she said, to [illegible] with a friend, since which time up to [illegible] night, nothing had been seen or heard of her by her friends. There is a mystery about the disappearance which is creating a sensation, especially as her husband did not disappear with her. [illegible] most probable she has run away to escape from him.

Iron Works to be Enlarged.—We are [illegible] formed the Oregon Iron Works Co. have determined to enlarge its works, at the upper end of [illegible] street. A contract [illegible] has been let to W. [illegible]. [illegible] other foundries and machine shops [illegible] are crowded with orders. They are [illegible] out all sorts of machinery and [illegible] first-class steam engine [illegible]. The company have lately [illegible] stoves, and so successful have they made the experiment that they are already overrun with orders for the Oregon trade.

Another Fire. [illegible]

Offer [illegible] day's Addition to East Portland [illegible] purchase. The lots or blocks will be offered alternate numbers.

A New [illegible].—The O. S. N. Co. [illegible] to begin the building of another large [illegible] the lower Columbia trade.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A man named Charles G[illegible] for [illegible] offense against the laws of this city was taken to Sa[lem] yesterday on a charge of grand larceny.

Mr. James F. Bybee, of Sauvies Island [illegible] start by the next steamer, for a visit to the Eastern States.

An additional gang of Chinese laborers for the Northern Pacific Railroad went down from this city to Kalama this week.

The steamer Dixie Thompson has been withdrawn from service temporarily to have [illegible] cabins completed.

Six tons of smelt arrived from down the river on Monday night, and the market may be said to be full and terms in favor of the buyer.

Business was extremely dull at the dock yesterday, the prevailing quiet being interrupted only by the steamer arrivals from Oregon City.

The Police reports for January were handed in last night to the Police Judge but our report [illegible] the lecture excludes them this morning.

AMUSEMENTS.

Oro Fino Theater.—This evening the sparkling comedy of "Diamond Cut Diamond, or Naval Engagement," will be offered, with Mrs. Bates in the leading character of Miss M[ortimer] to be followed by a double hornpipe by Misses Gemma and Cummings and Chinese [illegible] Spanish Trance, by Mr. Cook.

Benefit to Mrs. Bates.—Mrs. Bates will have a farewell benefit on Friday evening, the last night of her appearance for the season. [illegible] drama will be presented.

Miss Cummings' Benefit.—There was an excellent turn out to Miss Nellie Cummings' [illegible] last night. The comedy of "The [illegible]" proved to be a gem, and the audience gave general applause.

WEDNESDAY MORNING FEBRUARY 1 1871

CITY.

A Woman Missing —It will be recollected that a short time ago the defaulting Treasurer of Washington county, Kern Westfall, was arrested in this city and taken to Washington county where he was held to answer and admitted to bail Prior to his return to the State his wife was separated from him We do not know when the separation took place, nor is it material Af ter his return he saw his wife and induced her to live with him again She informed her friends that he threatened her However this may be, they had since been living together at Kellogg s Hotel up town Last Wednesday Mrs Westfall left the hotel to go out, as she said, to dine with a friend since which time up to Monday night nothing had been seen or heard of her by her friends There is a mystery about the disappearance which is creating a sensation, especially as her husband did not disappear with her It is most probable she has run away to escape from him

Iron Works to be Enlarged —We are informed the Oregon Iron Works Co has determined to enlarge its works at the upper end of Front street A contract to build a casting house has been let to W L Higgins Like most of the other foundries and machine shops, these works are crowded with orders They are now turning out all sorts of machinery and piece work from a first class steam engine down to a cast button The company have lately engaged in casting stoves, and so successful have they made the experiment that they are already overrun with orders for the Oregon trade

Another Baby Found —Yesterday morning a boy baby, apparently but a few hours old, was found in a basket deposited on the front door steps of Mrs Beckett's residence, on B street, near the bridge It was well wrapped, but in an old soiled blanket, and laid upon a somewhat dilapidated pillow Mrs Beckett had been out during the night attending upon the sick child of a neighbor, and upon her return, about 4 o'clock, found the little stranger The family upon which this waif has been thrust is poor and unable to undertake its care What shall be done with it?

The First Regular Steamship to Portland.—Yesterday the "oldest inhabitants" had their memories of old times jogged by seeing in Hillman s show window a very fair picture, in water colors, of the old steamship Columbia The picture was painted by Mr N B Randall, of this city, who produced it from memory, but it must be admitted that it is surprisingly like the old craft in her palmy days when she was commanded by Capt W L Dall The sight of it recalled many a reminiscence of the early days, the memory of which had slept for years

German Salute —Our German fellow citizens celebrated, yesterday, the capitulation of Paris by firing one hundred and one guns They planted the cannon at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, firing down the latter A considerable crowd of interested spectators and idlers congregated to witness the jubilations The affair went off quietly and without any disturbance except a slight disagreement between a couple of men who had been indulging a little too freely in liquid refreshments

Regular Steamer to Kalama —On and after next Monday the O. S N. Co will run the steamer Rescue daily between Portland and Kalama, leaving this city at 8 o'clock A M and returning in the evening, via the Wallamet Slough each way The hour of starting being two hours later than that of the mail boats, the arrangement will be convenient for those who wish to make merely a special trip.

Incorrect Information —Yesterday we published a bit of memoranda concerning the sailing of the Lovet Peacock from Honolulu for Portland We got the information from the shipping intelligence of the Commercial Herald It was incorrect, however, as the Lovet Peacock arrived some days ago at Port Townsend—a fact which we did not know when we copied the paragraph from the Herald.

Housebreaking and Thieving —The house on the corner Main and First streets, lately occupied by Oatman & Hackney, was entered Monday night and despoiled of a miscellaneous assortment of goods, which had not yet been removed to their new quarters The thieves—probably juvenile—took all sorts of articles, including some old clothes which had been left in a private room

Inflicted on Salem —At Salem there is about as much indignation as in Portland against Dr Forvea s beastly circular It has been scattered at Salem as much as free as here. We are pleased to learn he he Oregon Medical Laboratory ... obscene document purports to have issued and in no way connected with the East Portland Dispensary.

Business Notice —We call special attention to Mr Wm Davidson's new advertisement in regard to real estate He is offering city and county property in such parcels and on such terms as must suit all wants.

Going East —Mr William Kapus, Collector of Customs for Alaska, who came down on the last trip of the George S Wright, will start to day for Washington, via the Columbia river, on official business.

Musical School —We are informed by the Vieuxtemps Brothers that they have possession of Philharmonic Hall till the middle of February, about which time they will open their musical school

No Worker —A considerable gang of Chinese laborers came across the river yesterday morning, who had probably knocked off work on the railroad or had been knocked off

Open to Purchase —Real Estate in Holladay's Addition to East Portland, is now open to purchase, The lots or blocks will be offered in ... ate numbers.

A New Steamer.—The O S N Co is about to begin the building of another large steamer for the lower Columbia trade.

LOCAL BREVITIES

A man named Charles Gall, a frequent offender against the laws of this city, was taken to Salem yesterday on a charge of grand larceny

Mr. James F Bybee, of Sauvies Island, will start by the next steamer, for a visit to the East ern States

An additional gang of Chinese laborers for the Northern Pacific Railroad, went down from this city to Kalama this week.

The steamer Dixie Thompson has been withdrawn from service temporarily, to have her cabins completed

Six tons of smelt arrived from down the river on Monday night, and the market may be said to be full and terms in favor of the buyer

Business was extremely dull at the dock yesterday the prevailing quiet being interrupted only by the steamer arrivals from Oregon City

The Police reports for January were handed in last night to the Police Board, but our report of the lecture excludes them this morning

AMUSEMENTS.

Oro Fino Theater —This evening the sparkling comedy of "Diamond Cut Diamond or the Naval Engagement," will be offered, with Mrs Bates in the leading character of Miss Mortimer to be followed by a double hornpipe by Misses Gemma and Cummings, and Chinese jugglery and Spanish Trance, by Mr Cook

Benefit to Mrs Bates —Mrs Bates will take a farewell benefit on Friday evening, the last night of her appearance for the season A new drama will be presented

Miss Cummings Benefit —There was an excellent turn out to Miss Nellie Cummings' benefit last night The comedy of "The Little Treasure" proved to be a gem, and the audience gave it liberal applause

THE COURTS.

"THE THREE STONE HEADS"

LECTURE BY REV THOS CONDON OF THE DALLES—A DESCRIPTION OF THREE STONE HEADS FROM EASTERN OREGON—THE COUNTRY FROM WHICH THEY CAME AND THE PERIODS IN WHICH THEY LIVED

Rev Thomas Condon, of the Dalles delivered last evening at Philharmonic Hall the first of a series of lectures before the Young Men's Christian Association, upon the subject expressed at the head of this article The hall was very well filled indeed the audience being a far larger one than lectures are accustomed to bring out in this city The Vieuxtemps Brothers performed a couple of musical pieces both before and after the lecture, much to the gratification of all present

The lecturer had before him three caskets, each containing a petrified head about which he proposed to talk As he spoke of them and matters connected with the periods to which they belonged he exhibited them to the audience plainly showing that they were, or rather had been, really the heads of living animals One of them, which shows a good face view, resembles somewhat the face of a camel or similar animal The speaker said the heads were antiquo beyond a reasonable doubt He did not rest their claim to high antiquity upon the fact that they were stone nor that they were found embedded in stone but upon the well established fact that Mts Hood, Jefferson, etc and the whole Cascade range rest upon the western extension of an old lake bed which contained these heads He laid down the proposition that the heads were older than Mt Hood, and went on to show this by saying that they had been uncovered by the slow action of a mountain ravine through which the waters of ten thousand years had flowed, and which had finally worn away the rocky evidences of the many periods which had passed since these remains found their sepulture They are the mute historians of a greatly remote ago they tell their own story, the speaker was only their interpreter

They belonged to an extinct race of animals allied to a species now widely separated They had the teeth of ruminants with tusks To the one particularly used to illustrate the speaker gave the name Oreodon Superous—and is allied to the Camel in some respects and to the Tapir in others It is an Oregon specimen new to science Four or five species of the Oreodon once lived in Central Oregon, of which this head belonged to the largest hence the name Oreodon Superbus The second specimen is little more than an inner cast of a side face, and probably belonged to the same species as the other It had been abraded by long action of the water and exposure to air, but the evidences were intact The third specimen is a head of different shape, the species not being as yet clearly determined He believed that it would be found to belong to a different species and much larger animal than the Oreodon

In the same region of country other animal remains were also found, among them the teeth and fragmentary bones of the rhinoceros the fragments showing the existence of two species the tapir and peccary, and an animal closely allied to the horse

About a mile from where these remains were found there is the face of an undisturbed series of geological formations, fifteen hundred feet above them, the whole being overlaid and protected by a cap of basalt These heads having been imbedded in rock below all these, must therefore have been once more than fifteen hundred feet below the surface The series above them contain a succession of remains and deposits light and dark, indicating various periods of quiet and violence This rock or series extends from Kern Creek Hill on the west across the John Day valley to Canyon City on the east, and from a range of hills north of John Day to Crooked river on the south

The species of remains under consideration were first found in what are called the "Bad Lands of Nebraska Similar formations on both sides of the Rocky Mountains, and like lake depressions and animal remains are also found The rock is a part of the miocene or middle tertiary period The sediment (now rock) was the deposit from fresh water lakes The region was once surrounded with grand and beautiful forests in which grew the palm of immense size, and tropical trees, shrubs and plants

As to what became of these lakes, the lecturer laid down the theory that they had been gradually drained off by various streams into the ocean The Colorado had drained the southern part of the region; the Columbia the northern. The waters had flown through these streams, which had gradually cut their channels down, till what was once the lake beds is now a comparatively high and barren waste—almost a treeless desert The lakes had evidently been divided by a lava stream flowing out from the Blue Mountains, across the country by Camp Watson Of the lake, thus divided, the lower part was first drained and thus as to that region the record was broken off, the upper or northern portion retained its waters and continued its record along down to the pliocene tertiary period Among the remains found in the upper lake region, were those of the horse and camel of the pliocene period The earlier remains of the horse indicated a small animal, the later, a large animal These were covered with volcanic cinders and ashes which had evidently fallen in great showers, as they were in places as much as fifteen feet deep. To show how these showers fall in volcanic regions, the lecturer referred to Pliny's account of his visit to and escape from Mt. Vesuvius. On this occasion, the showers of hot ashes were so profuse that the people had to bind thick coverings of cloth upon their heads.

At a later period—the posttertiary, the formations and deposits were of a different character The remains found were those of the elephant, ox, horse, etc, and they were found only in deposits of clay, gravel and wash sand, showing that the petrifying principle which was so active in the miocene period had ceased to act [Here the speaker exhibited and explained a fragment of an elephant's lower jaw

He said he had now given three mere glimpses of distant distinct periods the Oreodon, the Hipparion and the elephant, corresponding to the three tertiary periods These were the days of the geological record They were separated by long periods of volcanic violence and change which represent the nights of the history To illustrate, he mentioned having once seen a panorama which while rolled up had been burned and blackened on one side He desired his audience to imagine such a panorama unrolled First they would see the cretaceous deposits—now a sea shell, a bone or two, a tooth, etc Then a burned and blackened section, on which nothing could be distinguished Second, would come a grand old forest and wide waters—the productions of the tertiary period Then the next blotched section of the panorama—another volcanic period Third, the oreodon the tapir peccary, rhinoceros, etc, followed by the next blackened section—the volcanic cinders and ashes This is the middle tertiary period And so on to the mammalian period or closing tertiary This damaged panorama illustrates the progress of ages as disclosed by geological science

The question as to what are these blanks, these blotted sections in the great geological panorama, gives rise to great difference of opinion One theory has it that they were periods of the entire blotting out of animal life—nights of cataclysm, followed by dawns of peace and quiet It is agreed by all that they were very long periods Another theory is that they were isolated parts of a great unfolding of the covering of the whole past. If so, their complements are to be found elsewhere The Columbia valley, he said, contained the whole record, as there were lakes there till the close of the mammalian period Out of these inquiries come these problems 1 Every species is a distinct creation, this is the old view; 2 Species were developed into others of a varied character this is the theory of Darwin 3 The theory of evolution, or the unfolding of one species into another this is the theory of Owens 4 Special Providences, creating species for special fields—the theory of Wallace. In determining the truth or falsity of either of these theories, the evidences furnished by the great Columbia valley must be of great importance as it contained the whole geological record. In the Mississippi valley there is a line which indicates the former western boundary of the continent before the upheaval of what is now the western half. The Rocky mountains were the first new barrier to the Pacific ocean, then the Blue mountains; next the Cascade range, and lastly the Coast range To the regions beyond these successive barriers the ocean has never returned since the cretaceous period, as is proved by the entire absence of shells

Another important evidence furnished by the Columbia valley is that a vast system of lakes opened the tertiary period of which the Columbia was the connecting link The period lasted from the foundation of Oregon till the end of the mammalian period It follows that the Columbia and its tributaries contain every page of the record

The lecturer closed with a few remarks upon the bearing of all these upon the work in which the association under whose auspices he spoke was engaged He said that in the stormy conflict of opinion that so eminently marks this age, there are grand affiliations of thought above the apparent confusion of the times Among these are the wide relationship of truth with truth, system with system, and the evolved truth that the geological record is the natural ally of the book of Genesis In all the wide field which geology covers, there is no stream, no ocean, forest, mountain plain, tree, beast bird or insect more a fact than the wants, the labor and destiny of our spirit life The Church has gone through many changes has given up one theory and system after another to harmonize itself with its surroundings, and its teachings have been many times modified to correspond with the lights which God has given us yet there is no act of the great Creating Hand more necessary to the healing mercies of the Gospel of Christ While these mute witnesses of the past whisper "Glory to God in the Highest," let the highest sphere to which God assigns you, be used to co work with Him in receiving Peace and Good Will to men

MUSTER OUT OF ARMY OFFICERS.—A Washington dispatch of the 14th January says

There is much less complaint and growling about the muster out army orders of the Secretary of War than was expected by some. The pressure brought to bear upon Gen Belknap and the President to retain this or that favorite was simply unparalleled. Influences political, social and of almost every other character, were plied, but to no purpose. There are several notable instances where officers of wealth and sociable position exerted such subtle diplomacy that there was left no doubt in their own minds that they would be retained, but alas for their expectations, the obdurate Secretary deviated neither to the right nor the left and went by the record alone. Members of Congress flew to the War Office in a passion to know why this was thus, in some cases, but retired before the inspection of the record. To the appeals of these gentlemen the Secretary would only say that he must carry out the law which they had made.

At one of our neighbors' houses was a very bright little girl. It chanced once that they had as a guest a minister, and an esteemed friend.

Little Annie watched him very closely, and finally sat down beside him and began to draw on her slate,

'What are you doing, Annie?' asked the clergyman.

'I'se making your picture,' said the child.

So the gentleman sat very still, and she worked away earnestly for a while. Then she stopped and compared her work with the original, and shook her little head.

"I don't like it much," she said. "Taint a grat deal like you. I dess I'll put a tail to it and call it a dorg."

Gen Sheridan is expected home in February to begin his usual round of newspaper (and social) engagements. Strange to say, he has been absent four or five months, and he has never been married once.

LAND DEPARTMENT

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON October 22, 1870

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands co-terminus with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks and upon very favorable terms if they so desire by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U S Land Office blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government. The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearny street corner of Commercial San Francisco where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies; see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his specialstudy for years and who has certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, foetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN:

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union

All communications strictly confidential
